SUSTAINABLE DESTINATION POLICY

Convi provides activities and excursions in places of tourist interest, which involve the tourist in the history of the city, its gastronomy, handicrafts, unique places and landscapes, etc.

We know how important the communities that are around all these sites are, likewise, the importance of each of the living beings that are in them, so we try to have the maximum care or sustainable measures with each one to minimize any negative impact on them.

For the above reasons we always try to identify also those sites that contribute to sustainability with good practices in this to facilitate the development of the excursion and that we can feel safe with the destination to which we send tourists.

To identify these sustainable destinations, we focus mainly on complying, for the most part, with the main sustainability aspects that Convi handles, such as: that there is a protection of threatened fauna and flora, a protection of cultural property according to the stipulated laws, that there is good waste management, that the community is participatory and not least, that there is good accessibility to the place.

In the event that these destinations do not comply, for the most part, with sustainability aspects or are even considered as "Non-Sustainable Destinations" by the agency, but it is considered a mandatory visit to them, all measures will be taken to minimize any negative impact on them.
